The Postmasters and the National Washington Monument.

One of the plans adopted by the" National Washington Menument Society" to raise funds, is to request the postmasters throughout the country to give aid to the enterprise, by placing boxes within their respective ofices for the reception of contributions and forwarding the retune to this place. However insignificant by themselves the amounts contri-buted may be, they will swell to an important aggregate if collected from all of the 30,000 postoffices throughout the United States. A few cents a month transmitted regularly by each, would suffice in a few years to raise the shaft to its intended height. The Postmaster General, in his letter, approving of this course, addressed to Lieutenant Ires, closes with the following forcible and patriotic remarks:

"The erection at the metropolis of the re public of a monument which shall express the nation's estimate of the grandcur of Washington's character, and the greatness of his services to the cause of human liberty, is to the patriotism of every American heart.

"It is the privilege of postmasters, and others associated with the postal service in common with all other citizens, to give to this enterprise such support. It is as citizens, and not as officers, that their influence-will be invoked, and I doubt not that, in this laudalile endeavor worthily to illustrate and per-petuate the same of the Father of his Country. they will yield to none in the promptness and carnestness of their co-operation."

Black Republicaniem

The Black Republicans out of Ohio, Kare denied with indignation that the rejection of Judge Swan, for Judge of the Supreme Court, by the late Republican Convention at Columbus, was in consequence of his action in recognizing the Fugitive Slave Law; but now we have an explicit letter from Judge Spalding, of Cleveland, a prominent Black Republican, who has been permanently, engaged as councel for the Oberlin rescuers, which fully explains the action of the Convention, and gives a pretty clear insight into the designs of the Black Republican leaders for the future. The letter has the merit of both brevity and frankness. It is as follows:

CLEVELAND, Ohio, June 28, 1859. Geo. W. Weston, Esq.—Dear Sir:—I beg leave to call your attention to an "editorial" in your paper (weekly) of the 25th Instant, under the title or heading of "Judge Swan of Whio," and in doing so, to say that the writer is deceived if he supposes that Judge Swan was left off the ticket on account of his resi-dance in Columbus. He was dropped for the reason that he, as a Judicial officer, recognized the Fugitive Slave conclinent of 1850 to be of binding force in Ohio; and the other two Judges, who were with him in opinion, will be dropped, in the same way, so soon as they are reached in the order of time. We do not recognize men to be Republicans, here, in Northern Ohio, who will for a moment susetain that miserable enactment.

That Two Year Amendment. Many of our readers are doubtless aware that the Know-Nothing Republicans throughout the North and West, particularly, have been endeavoring to break the force of the

One of the plans adopted by the " National Washington Monument Society" to raise funds, is to request the postmasters throughout the country to give aid to the enterprise, by placing loxes within their respective offices for the reception of contributions and forwarding the returns to this place. A few cents a mouth transmitted regularly by each, would suffice in a few years to raise the shaft to its intended beight. The Postoinster General, in his letter, approving of this course, addressed to Lieutenant Ives, closes with the following forcible and patriotic remarks:

Black Republicanism and Abolition.

ism One. The Black Republicans out of Ohio, have denied with indignation that the rejection of Judge Swan, for Judge of the Sapreme Court, by the late Republican Convention at Columbus, was in consequence of his action in recognizing the Fugitive Slave Law; but now we have an explicit letter from Judge Spalding, of Cleveland, a prominent Black Republican, who has been permanently engaged as connect for the Oberlin rescuers, which fully explains the action of the Convention, and gives a pretty clear insight into the designs of the Black Republican leaders for the fiture. The letter has the merit of both brevity and frankness. It is as follows:

CLEVILLAND, Ohio, June 28, 1859. Geo. W. Weston, Esq.—Dear Sir :—I Log leave to call your attention to an "editorial" in your paper (weekly) of the 25th instant, under the title or heading of "Judge Swan of Whio," and in doing so, to say that the writer The Postmasters and the National is deceived if he supposes that Judge Swan was left off the ticket on account of his residence in Columbus. He was dropped for the reason that he, as a Judicial officer, recognizled the Fugitive Slave enactment of 1850 to be 1 of hinding force in Ohio and the other two Judges, who were with him in opinion, will be dropped, in the same way, so soon as they are reached in the order of time. is a constitutional disease, a corruption of the blood, by which this fluid becomes vitiated, weak, and poor. Being in the circulation, it pervades the whole body, and may burst out in disease on any part of it. No organ is free from its attacks, nor is there one which it may not destroy. The scrofulous taint is variously caused by mercurial disease, low living, disordered or unhealthy food, impure air, filth and filthy habits, the depressing vices, and, above all, by the venereal infection. Whatever be its origin, it is hereditary in the constitution, descending "from parents to children stitution, descending "from parents to children unto the third and fourth generation;" indeed, it seems to be the rod of Him who says, "I will visit the iniquities of the fathers upon their children."

Its effects commence by deposition from the blood of corrupt or ulcerous matter, which, in the lungs, liver, and internal organs, is termed tabereles; in the glands, swellings; and on the surface, cruptions or sores. This foul cor-ruption, which genders in the blood, depresses the energies of life, so that scrofulous constitu-
